STATE ANNOUNCES
CHARGE AGAINST
SCREEN COMEDIANSTATEMENT FOLLOWS
CONFERENCE AMONG
OFFICIALS.CONTINUE CASE
Will Come Up Next Thursday;
"Fatty" Must Stay in Jail.

(By Associated Press.)
San Francisco.—District Attorney Brady announced in the police court of Judge Sylvain Lazarus Friday that "the people are ready to proceed on the murder charge" against Roscoe C. (Fatty) Arbuckle, who is held responsible by the authorities for the death of Virginia Rappe, a motion picture actress.

The announcement came after a conference between Brady and police officials, called to decide which of the four charges against Arbuckle could be tried. There are two murder and two manslaughter charges pending.

Judge Lazarus continued the case until next Thursday at 1 p. m. The charges against Arbuckle being released on bail.

The courtroom was filled at 10 o'clock, most of the spectators being women. Among them were delegates from the Women's Vigilance committee, who have pledged itself to assist the authorities in every way in investigating the case.

Fatty Arbuckle did not appear when the calling of the calendar was begun. It was reported from the court that he felt more cheerful Friday than for some time.

Only those having business with the court were allowed to enter the courtroom. A crowd of approximately 500, mostly men, assembled outside and special police detail was stationed in the crowded corridors.

Court officials explained the extent of Arbuckle's hold on the murder charge. It may be reduced later in the trial court if the evidence does not justify its prosecution. The murder charge itself is a charge of manslaughter and a trial can be had and a verdict returned on either charge, even though murder is the charge being showing on the docket, was explained.

Asks More Time.
Arbuckle, surrounded by his attorneys, stood up at the counsel table to ask for a continuance. A crowd of men tried to rush the court door just before the hearing started, but were needed off by the police.

Frank E. Dominguez, chief counsel for Arbuckle, asked for a 10 days continuance following Brady's statement. The district attorney objected, saying five days should be sufficient time for the state to prepare the case.

The inquest into Miss Rappe's death was demanded a speedy hearing. Brady said, addressing the defense. "You also demanded a speedy hearing. So why do you ask for a continuance? Why don't you put the defendant on the stand and let him tell his side of the case?"

Sole Expert Evidence.
Dominguez explained that the defense found it necessary to obtain considerable expert evidence before going ahead with even the police court examination.

"If the defendant is willing to stay in jail until his counsel prepares his case, the topic of the state of California should not mind." Dominguez said.

SEEK NO LIGHT
ON KRON MURDER

Akron.—No light on the circumstances of the murder of Harry Sinclair, 30, an actor, a comedian, Thursday, is being sought Friday by Cleveland and police.

Two leads were followed Thursday in an effort to trace the identity of the slayer. Little progress was reported.

Sinclair was for of the roadster of a friend, R. Hamilton, who also was in the party with two women. When, according to the story told by Smithers, a car left from behind from which two shots were fired which struck the body of the roadster. The slayer fled as the pursuers were killed and Sinclair.

The two in the party substantiated Smith's story. Friends of Sinclair had no agencies. It was said to the police as a riddle.

DEMAND RELEASE OF MADELYNN ON BAIL
TO PRESERVE HEALTH

(By Associated Press.)
Los Angeles.—A motion to admit Mrs. Madelyn Obenchain to bail, pending her trial for the murder of J. Belmont Kennedy, broken, for which she was jointly indicted with Arthur C. Burch, was scheduled for argument here Friday in the Los Angeles county superior court.

Warren Williams, counsel for Mrs. Obenchain, said he would demand her release to prevent her health from being permanently impaired. He said the demand would be supported by an affidavit from Mrs. Obenchain's physician, already before the court.

Mr. Williams said any attempt to introduce a copyrighted story recently published in the Los Angeles Examiner, relating to an alleged confession by Burch, would be fought on the ground that, even if genuine, it could not be admitted against Mrs. Obenchain because it was alleged to have been made by a co-defendant.

Neck in Fall.

Ira Bingham, 52, one of the best known sportsmen and pleasure seekers in Wisconsin, was killed Thursday afternoon when he fell from the balcony of the bar of his farm on Lake Koshkonong. His neck was broken.

He was at the time and was found half hour later. The cause of the fall was not known.

Mr. Bingham was famous throughout the state for his experiences with the rifle. He was brought from Michigan by his parents when nine years old to the Koshkonong.

Mr. Bingham was famous throughout the state for his experiences with the rifle. He was brought from Michigan by his parents when nine years old to the Koshkonong.

During his time, Lake Koshkonong became famous as the greatest fishing hole in the Central West for canvas back duck. Prominent men from all over the country visited his father's place during the hunting season. Thus he became the personal friend of several presidents of the United States.

General Sheridan of Civil War fame. Mrs. Bingham was born near Marshall, Mich., Nov. 8, 1878. He is survived by three sisters, Mrs. H. Y. Lusk, of Milwaukee; Mrs. E. J. Lusk, of Janesville; Mrs. Bingham, of Port Arthur, Tex., and a son, Mr. Bingham, residing with him, also living on the farm. One brother, Edward, residing with him, also survived. A nephew, Mr. Bingham, chief engineer of the Waldorf-Astoria hotel in New York city.

The funeral will be at the home at 1:30 Sunday afternoon. Further arrangements will be announced later.

Say Mother
Slew Father
For Boarder

Aurora, Ill.—A mother was arrested here on Thursday on complaint of two daughters who charged her with the murder of their father. The mother, Mrs. Frances Balchunas, was taken to jail on a charge of murdering her husband, who was a boarder.

The girls, according to Assistant State's Attorney Amell, say that the night their father was killed he was asked by the mother to give up a room he had been sleeping in. The mother refused to do so, and the father was killed.

They declare further, that their mother was proving about the room of Helen, the night their father was asphyxiated. They say she came to see if Helen was asleep before going to that occupied by the father.

The girls say their mother slowly the father so she might live undisturbed with her boarder, who had been a boarder in their house and had been killed by her father.

Mrs. Balchunas and her husband, who were held in jail without bail on the murder charge. They protest their innocence.

Balchunas left $3,000 in insurance and some real estate.

SAVINGS PLAN UP
TO C. C. DIRECTORS

Final action on the acceptance of the American City Bureau's combined savings, investment and insurance corporation plan was referred to the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce at a meeting of business and business men held at the Chamber Thursday afternoon. Objection to the stock feature, bankers declaring that unless the stock could be redeemed at par they were not favorable, is expected to be overcome by the writing of a new by-law. This would provide that a certain percentage of the stock could be redeemed at par after 30 days notice and the balance at the end of a definite period.

THIRD VICTIM IS HINTED IN CHURCH
MURDER MYSTERYTHREAT RECEIVED IN LETTER
IS NEW DEVELOPMENT.WOMAN WRITER?
"I'll Get Your Father or Mother."
Warns Note to Prisoner.

(By Associated Press.)
Chicago.—While investigators from the state's attorney's office and detectives were sifting the evidence in the Church handkerchief murder mystery Friday, with the newest development a possibility that Harvey W. Church alone may remain in the net, a letter to the youth threatened the lives of his parents if he betrayed the writer. Church, self-confessed slayer of Bernard J. Daugherty and Carl A. Aussen, automobile salesman, told him he had obtained an automobile, told him in his first of three confessions that he had been threatened if he did not get a car at once.

Implicates Others.
He did not make clear why he was to obtain the car. Subsequent stories implied that the car was for the father and mother. They, they confessed, but police now look with doubt on his statement and the letter two men presented apparently punctured the story.

The letter, they said, if the writer, who signed himself "Wm.," heard "anything about you giving me away. I'll get your father or mother or both." "Don't forget to think twice before you speak," the letter warned.

Think Woman Writer.
Detectives were inclined to believe that the letter was written by a woman, who displayed her handwriting as that of a man.

A new theory advanced Friday was that a third man, together with Church and Parks, may have had a hand in the murders and then met similar fate at the hands of Church, or that Daugherty and Aussen, fighting for life, killed the third man.

THINK CHURCH ALONE
IN DOUBLE MURDER.

Chicago.—That Harvey W. Church played a lone hand in the murders of Bernard J. Daugherty, automobile salesman, and Carl A. Aussen, a demonstrator, was the assertion Friday of Edgar A. Jones, assistant state's attorney.

Church at first confessed, he killed both Daugherty and Aussen. He later, however, implicated Leon Parks, Clarence Wilder and others. Parks later made a confession. Investigators for the state's attorney now believe Church's confession was a fake and that Wilder is not involved.

Other officials were inclined to the view that Church, Parks and an unknown "third man" were involved in the murders. A search was being made Friday by those inclined to this theory.

Church, who has made a number of confessions and contradictory statements, was questioned Thursday night, but no new facts were learned.

The police announced Friday that a search was being made for Gust E. Borchert, a garage owner, who Church was formerly employed. He is known to the police as the man who made Friday by those inclined to this theory.

POLICE ON GUARD ON ANNIVERSARY OF
WALL STREET BLAST

(By Associated Press.)
New York.—Extraordinary vigilance was maintained by police on duty in the financial district—the anniversary of the Wall street explosion of 1919, which cost 40 lives and resulted in injury to more than 100 persons and property loss of thousands of dollars. The steps taken were purely precautionary, it was claimed.

With the expiration of a year, the cause of the disaster still remains a mystery. The general belief is that the explosion was the result of a bomb prepared by radicals, although an accident theory was advanced as well as a theory that it was an outgrowth of a building trades war.

All the public over learned was that a dilapidated wagon loaded with a high explosive and drawn by a decrepit old horse pulled up in front of the United States assay office a few minutes before noon and the driver disappeared. At 12:01 o'clock, when the sky-scrapers were pouring out their noon-day thousands, the explosion let go with a roar that shook all of lower Manhattan.

NORTH DAKOTA TO BALLOT ON RECALL
OF HEADS, OCT. 28SCORES OF THOUSANDS
SIGN PETITIONS
FOR POLL.FRAZIER TARGET
Voters Also to Pass on Law
Changes to Joint N-P
Machinery.

(By Associated Press.)
Bismarck, N. D.—North Dakota's recall election, aimed at state officers elected by Nonpartisan league endorsement, will be held Friday, Oct. 28, under a proclamation prepared by Thomas Hall, secretary of the state.

The proclamation will be mailed out Friday night to county auditors, who will post formal notice of the election. Preparation of the proclamation began Friday immediately after a check of recall petitions had shown the number of signatures obtained was from 7,500 to 8,000 in excess of legal requirements.

Recall on Governor.
The petitions circulated for each official, against whom the independent faction of the state aimed the proposed recall, bore signatures in the following number: For recall of Governor J. J. Frazier, 73,933; Attorney General William Lemaire 73,277; John Hagen, commissioner of agriculture and labor, 73,157.

The signatures necessary for calling of recall election in North Dakota must equal 30 per cent of the number of voters who cast ballots for governor at the last general election or in this case, 75,331 signatures.

Vote on Laws.
Governor Frazier has been chief executive of North Dakota since the Nonpartisan league obtained the position in 1915. Last fall, he defeated J. P. T. O'Connor, independent candidate, by a vote of 17,118 to 12,453.

A number of proposed legislative amendments also will be submitted with a view to changing in many respects the conditions under which the Nonpartisan league officials have controlled the machinery of the state government.

2 Killed in
Train Wreck

(By Associated Press.)
Clinton, Ia.—Engineer Thomas Lea and Fireman John Johnson, both of Clinton, were killed when the engine of the Chicago and Northwestern railway's last west bound passenger train No. 7 was derailed in a wash-out and crashed into a trestle bridge, early Friday morning.

The Dauntless was met far out at sea Friday morning by the American fleet, which put out from the summer naval base at Newport, R. I. With an American destroyer marking the way, the Dauntless, followed by the other American vessels and with the seaplanes flying overhead, passed up Ambrose channel to the New York navy yard, past forts, which thundered a salute.

Ships Dip Colors.
Ships at anchor, ferry boats and other harbor craft dipped their colors, while their crews manned the decks at attention.

In the yard, the cruiser found awaiting it a special guard of honor made up of marines and bluejackets. Officers from the French cruiser Ville D'Yeu, and the Brazilian battleship Minas Geraes, now in port, were present.

As soon as the Dauntless made fast, the bodies were removed to a temporary chapel, where they will rest until Saturday, when full honors will be given the dead airman.

Bury Cecil at Sea.
At a near date, one of the bodies that of Lieutenant Commander Henry W. Cecil, again will be taken to sea, this time on an American warship, and somewhere off the coast will be consigned to the deep, in accordance with his wishes.

The bodies brought home Friday include all but one of the Americans who were on the ill-fated dirigible when she was destroyed. The exception was William C. Walker, who escaped with his life and is in a British hospital.

London.—Relations between England and Ireland Friday stood as they did before Eamon De Valera came to London on July 14 to discuss with Premier Lloyd George a possible basis for ending the Irish controversy.

The Sinn Fein leader Thursday made public his note to the premier, affirming his stand that Irish republican plenipotentiaries could enter a conference only as delegates as an independent power, and Mr. Lloyd George quickly announced the cancellation of his invitation of Irish leaders to a party at 10 Downing street.

It was made plain by the premier that he could not meet the Sinn Fein delegates if the claim of Irish independence and sovereignty were insisted upon, but he did not close the door to further exchanges with the republicans.

Premier Is Ill.
Mr. Lloyd George is indisposed and is confined to his rooms at Claridge, Scotland, where he has been spending a vacation, and it is expected here that members of the British parliament will confer with him before the government takes further action.

When the cabinet met Sept. 5, a committee was appointed to deal with any situation which might develop as a result of exchanges with Dublin. It consisted of Mr. Lloyd George, Austen Chamberlain, Earl Curzon, Sir Laming Worthington-Evans, Winston Spencer Churchill, Edward Shortt, Robert Munro, Lord Birkenhead, Sir Hamar Greenwood and Sir Robert Balfour.

LEGION MOVES TO AND UNEMPLOYED

Between 600,000 and 700,000
Veterans Idle, Says
Weekly.

Indianapolis.—A survey conducted by the American Legion, through 11,000 posts, discloses that between 600,000 and 700,000 veterans of the World war are out of employment, it is announced.

The legion's investigation shows that Pennsylvania alone reported 150,000 ex-soldiers out of work. New York has 130,000, Illinois, 85,000; Massachusetts, 30,000, and Michigan, 20,000.

Georgia was the only state to report that unemployment was not general enough to require aid from the legion.

The American Legion Weekly, in its current issue, says: "Figures alone do not tell the plight of the American unemployed. The real picture is for the greater part of the jobsless ex-soldiers and ex-sailors are not only out of work, but are engaged at this moment in a struggle for existence with their backs to the wall of circumstance."

Stating that the "plight of the veterans is serious enough today and that winter is just around the corner," the Weekly continues: "All over the United States the American Legion is working to meet this new emergency."

Problem of Volume.
"It is not altogether a new problem for most of the posts, for they have long had employment problems. The members obtain jobs. The problem has now become one of volume. Facilities that enabled a post to place three or four men in jobs have now to meet the requirements when hundreds of veterans are on the unemployment lists and open jobs have almost vanished. The problem has also become one largely of relief."

PROPOSE NEW ROAD ON CARCAJOU LAND
A hearing will be held before the town board of Summer, Jefferson county, Saturday afternoon on the building of a public road on property controlled by the Carcajou club, Lake Koshongong, Al. C. McLean, who represents the club members. The petition is said to have been circulated by Bert Hoard.

There is an issue over the use of land along the club grounds which has resulted in the building of a fence in the circuit court by the Carcajou club against H. L. Skivelem and then Mr. Hoard.

The road petition is the latest action in the case.

FRUITS ON WANE IN LOCAL MARKET

Better Variety of Vegetables
Appearing as Season
Progresses.

Fruits are now on the wane in the local market and vegetables are appearing in more varieties and quantities. None of the fruits in the market for the last two weeks have entirely disappeared as yet, but are becoming scarce and poorer in quality. Peaches are still numerous and are good. They sell for 25 and 30 cents per basket. Plums for canning sell for $1.75 to more than $2 per bushel, while for eating they are 25 cents per small basket. Pears get better each week for canning and will soon be in their prime. They now cost $2.50 per bushel, while the ripe ones for eating are 40, 45 and 50 cents per dozen.

Last of the Cantaloupes.
The last of the cantaloupes are in this week and are selling at from 7 to 15 to 20 cents each. They are of good quality. Apples are coming in the market more than any other fruit at present. The last of the crab-apples are selling at 10 cents a pound, while the fancy eating apples are the same price. Cooling apples are selling for 4 pounds for a quarter. Celery and Malaga grapes cost 20 and 25 cents per pound and are exceptionally good. The last of the home-grown Concord has been sold, but the shipped-in variety will soon arrive and for that reason are not being purchased by grocers.

Bananas remain at about the same price, ranging from 10 to 12 and 15 cents per pound.

The only new arrival in the fruit market is grape-fruit, the first having arrived early in the week. It is said to be unusually good for this time of year and sells for 15 cents each.

New Vegetables.
A number of new vegetables are obtainable now with the colder weather. Pumpkins sell for 15 and 20 cents each. Sweet potatoes have dropped to 10 cents a pound for a quarter in some places, and egg plant, at 20 cents each, and cauliflower at 35 cents each, have arrived in some stores.

One or two stores have received cranberries and are selling them for 25 cents a pound. It has been predicted that these will be very scarce this year. Celery costs from 4 to 8 cents per stalk, while leaf lettuce is 20 cents per pound and the heads cost 20 cents each. Potatoes remain the same, coming about 60 or 70 cents a peck to the buyer. Squash is 3 cents per pound, while turnips average 20 and 30 cents each, while onions are 4 pounds for a quarter. Spanish onions 10 cents a pound and pickling onions 12 cents. Cucumbers have gone.

Cabage are 5 cents per bunch, cabbage 2 and 4 cents per pound. Tomatoes are 4 cents per pound, while peppers are 2 for 2, 3 for 3 and 10 for 10 cents each. Butter ranges from 44 to over 50 cents per pound. Eggs from 22 and 25 to 35 and 37 cents.

IRISH SITUATION ON OLD BASIS

Slemonson Horns. These ministers left Wednesday for various parts of Scotland and England. Immediately after the Inverness meeting, and it would take several days to gather them for a conference on the present critical situation.

May Call Parliament.
The British parliament adjourned on Aug. 19 until Oct. 13. But Premier Lloyd George announced before adjournment that if negotiations with the Sinn Fein broke down and the position became hopeless, the speaker of the house of commons would be empowered, after consultation with the government, to summon parliament on 48 hours' notice.

There was no indication here Friday that either the British government or the Sinn Fein would announce the resumption of negotiations and resume the quagmire warfare that cost scores of lives and destroyed property valued high in the millions. Warfare is the last thing either side desires and no effort generally will be made to prevent any overt act that will place on either the responsibility for resuming hostilities.

ENGLISH PUBLIC OPINION IS BEHIND LLOYD GEORGE
London.—Public opinion in England so far as it has found expression is virtually solid in support of the premier in his contention that all the advances possible toward peace have been made by Great Britain and the government cannot go further to meet Irish republican aspirations. There was hope that Mr. De Valera would ask his people for a new mandate and that a plebiscite in Ireland would result in favor of the acceptance of dominion home rule, but even the Irish nationalists, according to expressions from them received here from Dublin, believe now that the result would be contrary to English expectation.

It is pointed out that Mr. Lloyd George's reply to Mr. De Valera left an opening for the continuation of the discussions after the cabinet had decided what should be done, but the preponderance of opinion here is that there can be no further concessions by England.

"The government," it is thought, will therefore decide upon a general election to obtain an endorsement of its policy from the public."

RAIN PUTS CRIMP IN JEFFERSON FAIR

Prospects for Record Crowds
Jolted by Unusually Downpour.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
Jefferson.—With a steady stream of people coming into the fair, with a ticket office line two blocks long and prospects of the largest attendance over in the history of the fair Thursday, a downpour, starting about noon, turned the grounds into a sea of water and many of the fairgoers were soaked so badly that fair officials expressed doubt as to whether the racing program for the rest of the week would be run off. It was not believed that the fair would be held Saturday.

Three hundred autos, stuck in the mud, were pulled out by horses Thursday. Judging was rapidly being completed, as the rain afforded the officials an opportunity to do a large amount of this work undisturbed.

One Dead, One
Hurt in Fight
St. Paul.—Frank Fisher was shot to death and J. C. Possett, proprietor of a hotel in the downtown district, is suffering from gunshot wounds after a quarrel over a card game early Friday. The police are holding six men, said to have been members of the party, but have been unable to learn who did the shooting. No gun was found.

Calls Jewish Services to Further Disarmament
Richmond, Va.—American rabbis are called upon in a letter made public Friday by Mr. E. N. Cullish, president of the central conference of American Rabbis to arrange a special service on or about Nov. 11, Armistice Day, at which the attention of American Jewry shall be directed to the armistice conference. Rabbis are requested to preach on the subject of limitation of armaments on one of the holidays and have their congregations adopt resolutions demanding that the armistice conference, discussions "be something more than mere political maneuvering or diplomatic jockeying in behalf of selfish or sinister interests."

A man might just as well make up his mind to like being fooled by girls, because he is going to be anyhow.

Belong to the whole city. This is also a part of a program to provide music and entertainment for the people.
Complete the city plan. Make more small parks and playgrounds and provide at least one large park where the whole people may recreate at will.
Camp for auto tourists coming to Janesville or passing through.
Establish a permanent memorial for the soldiers of the World War, suitable and adequate, and preserve the relics and souvenirs of that and all other American wars in a public place.
Finish the paving of Janesville streets and complete the sewer system.
Make a main highway into city of concrete to connect with good pavements in Janesville.
Keep the city looking bright and clean with paint and the streets free from filth.
Either build a new hotel or increase the number of the present hotels as to take care of the traveling public and be able to handle conventions.
Finish the high school at an early date and give the children proper educational facilities.

WHERE WILL THE ANCHOR BE CAST?

The abnormal crime of the youth Harvey Church, not only the act itself but the continued series of falsehood which seem to have followed, show a mental state defective in moral appreciation or responsibility. More than 75 per cent of the serious crimes of the last year have been committed by youths from the age of 16 to 25. What is wrong? Of course there is something decidedly and emphatically wrong. During school seasons the child spends the largest part of his waking hours under the eyes of the school teacher in the smaller rural or city grade schools and in a mechanical and regulated movement from one class room to another in the high schools. Here naturally the first lesson must be had in discipline away from home and parental influence. Aside from the mere cramming of knowledge into plastic minds the spirit of things ethical must be inculcated—not necessarily through text books or lectures, but by the steady power of suggestion.

And again, the boy, especially is a vigorous being, and must have outlets for physical energy as well as for mental gymnastics. The whole city, the collective citizenship has a responsibility here, and just now we feel that it is more emphasized than ever. There must be a snubbing post for energy—an anchorage ground, a central power station for the boys of any city. Here in Janesville the logical and in fact only place for that anchorage is the Y. M. C. A. This institution has struggled along for many years just within or just over the border of its means. It needs to be bigger and broader with such ability to take in larger activities and be of still greater usefulness than ever. It is a most excellent time right now to give to this problem of an anchorage that thought which eventually shall be coined into action looking to a greater institution than it has ever been. If we are to solidly unite all interests and all classes in a war on the tendency toward moral destruction the place to begin, it would seem, is with what we have in hand and recent the values.

THE NEW YORK ELECTION.

The nomination of Henry Curran on a fusion ticket for Mayor of Greater New York marks the beginning of a battle between the Tammany-Hearst combination and the forces opposed. The republican candidate against Curran, in fact two of them, were openly and notoriously advocates of a wide-open city and the dissemination of liquor. They failed, utterly. Curran is president of the borough of Manhattan, New York city proper, and has had a hard fight for many reforms. In spite of Tammany obstruction he has succeeded in most of them. An overseas soldier with a most excellent record and a thorough knowledge of the governmental needs of the city of New York, he will make a strong candidate.

One factor in the contest which seems to have been overlooked by the Tammany chiefs is that the women of New York are thoroughly aroused over the school conditions, vice trap buildings, unsanitary and unsafe surroundings, crowded rooms and a general break down in the educational system after a too-long dose of Mayor Hylan, has brought that issue acutely to the fore. But even with that it is hard to predict what will happen, for Hylan himself, though possessing no brilliance as an administrator, has been personally popular.

IRA BINGHAM.

In the death of Ira Bingham another of the old citizens of Rock county has gone over the river into the shade of the trees. Inseparably will he be connected with the days of good sportsmanship on Koshkonong when the canvas backs were like the sands of the sea. His hospitality, his knowledge of game fowl and his personality were known to all the lovers of genuine hunting sport in the country. He was more than locally known because to his home came men of prominence from all parts of the country to enjoy his kindly help and hospitality.

A long life of simple service closed when Ira Bingham died. His father was a pioneer; the son shared the struggle of those early years, and the days of his life spanned the whole history of

PEOPLE OF THE ROAD

By FREDERICK J. HASKIN

Washington, D. C.—To any one who has traveled the transcontinental highways from time to time in the past few years, the most astonishing phenomenon of the West is the growing procession of motor cars equipped for long journeys that follows them.

No one seems to have gathered any figures on the number of persons in this country who take to the Gypsy life every summer, but the number must be enormous and it is certainly growing. A few years ago the automobile laden with camp equipment was a novelty. Now the coast-to-coast highways are an almost unbroken string of them. Every little town along these routes has a free camping ground which is nearly always crowded. In the less settled portions of the West, every good spring beside the road has become a caravanserai. There are sections where you can see more people living in tents than in houses.

The growth of this gypsy life is not surprising. The growth of the development which equipment for such a life has undergone. You can buy complete living furniture for your car almost as easily as you can buy it for your flat, and the degree of comfort which you can achieve is limited only by your means.

This return to the camp life has been noted painfully by inn keepers along the road. They have for some time been used to the spectacle of the middle-western farmer who has sold out and is going farther west in his limousine, looking for a new location. He has always camped beside his place just as his father camped beside a prairie schooner. But of late years even the wealthy have taken to camping. The ingenuity and amount of the equipment which they produce at night is astonishing. Many of them have trailers which are complete sleeping compartments, as comfortable as those in Pullman cars, and others have contrived that mysteriously underfoot from the side of the car, evolving into nice beds with roofs over them. Cooking equipment is equally elaborate. A third type is the car which has a house built on the chassis. One man had such a house, which he had built himself, containing two bunks and a table and chair, and was of such light and strong material that a flier had successfully carried it over the transcontinental divide.

It is doubtful if any other country in the world could match this army of auto campers. For this country was peopled by nomads. Scientists tell us that the nomadic impulse runs in families. It was the nomadic impulse which carried most of our ancestors to this shore, and which sent later generations to the conquest of the West. The same hankering to wander is in most of us, and in the last few years it has found an alluring expression in this cross country wandering. People who never camped before in their lives have suddenly found that it is possible to be comfortable in a tent and have felt the ancient charm of a roving life.

The transcontinental roads have in fact become for the warm months at least, a sort of complete wandering community, with all the classes represented. The roads have their idle rich, their middle class, their yeomanry, their vagrants and their criminals. Here is a high-powered car with a trailer containing every camp comfort. In it a rich man and his wife are touring the west, assisted by a chauffeur and a cook who occupy the front seat. It is their house, they have never stopped at a hotel. Behind the next car to pass will be but a little way behind—is that of a business man and his family. They live in St. Louis, and after many family conferences have decided to go to California in the old family bus or bust. Everybody is burned quite red and having a beautiful time. Mother is learning to make biscuits in a dutch oven, the children want to keep doing this the rest of their lives, and father has already sampled 15 different golf courses and 19 local varieties of hooch.

One jump behind this family party is a silver laboring under a heavy load. It contains a man from Missouri who has sold his farm at a high figure and is going west with his family, where he can buy three times as much land for the same money. In due course he will sell out and move again. His father moved from Massachusetts to Missouri in a wagon, and his grandfather came from Ireland in a sailing vessel. He is but carrying on the family tradition.

Next comes a very rusty and decrepit-looking machine with a couple of overland men in it. These may belong to any one of several classes. There are large numbers of floating laborers now who go from place to place along the main roads looking for work. News of lucrative work in harvest field or lumber camp may send them 2 thousand miles in a few days. They always camp, pay no rent, and their food costs them nothing. They enjoy a free and interesting life and work not more than half the time. Many of them are good fellows, ready to help you if you are stuck in a mudhole. Others are thieves, always ready to steal tires or any other equipment that may be lying around loose. There is a well-recognized class of these itinerant pirates. You hear tales of their depredations all along the road. There are some armed highwaymen, too. The favorite route of these is worked again and again.

The robber rides his own car and trumps along the road, robbing the part of the footmen who fear him. He has a few fast preferring those that contain only one man. Always sooner or later someone compassionately picks him up. This dialogue followed in one instance:

"Could you give me a cigarette?"

"Driver stops and pulls out box of cigarettes. "Match?"

"Autost gives him match."

"Now give me your roll!"

"Autost, who was just about to start his car, turns in surprise and finds himself looking down the barrel of a gun, one inch from his head. He passes over his notebook and watch."

"Now start your car."

"He does. The bandit steps from the running board with a polite nod and smile of thanks. "Don't stop," is his final order.

So the road is not without its perils. But don't shun it on that account. It is no more perilous really than living at home. And the road is romance and adventure and fresh air and health. Here the jitney of the poor man, working his way, is as welcome as the limousine of the millionaire. Water, wood and scenery are free to them all. Let no man say that he is too poor to travel.

the country. He might truly say of it, "All of which I saw, a part of which I was."

Can you beat this for argument: Marshall Nelson says that Arbuckle is a victim of bad liquor and "prohibition laws are to blame for bad liquor." Suppose Mr. Nelson and others try going without. There would be no bad liquor then!

THE REASON.

His collar is immaculate, his clothes are neatly pressed. His tailor keeps the wrinkle smoothed forever from his vest. Upon his trousers little feet have never left a track. And it is plain no little boy has ridden on his back.

He never has been sprayed upon or climbed upon for fun. He's never rolled upon the floor as I so oft have done.

His remarks are always quick and span, so very straight he stands. He keeps his linen out of reach of dirty little hands.

"Behold," the women say to me, "how fine he always looks!"

He's like the picture of the men you see in fashion books. Why can't you be more orderly, and keep yourself in trim?

But he, he has no little child to sprawl all over him.

No little hands demand his watch and snatch it from his place.

Upon his clothing little feet have never left a track. My garb is always disarrayed, while his is fair to see. But he has neither boy nor girl to clamber on his knee.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

By ROY K. MONTGOMERY

GRANDPOP.

(Dedicated to Old Mike Gibbons, the St. Paul Phantom, who is still turning them down in the ring at a ripe old age.)

The Kill-Em-Quick Athletic club was sitting very comfortably in the city hall.

They'd dimmed the world at everything from harmony to dice.

I took my grandpop down there grandpop!

I took my grandpop down there once. I never will again.

I made my grandpop comfy in a great big Morris lounge.

I polished up his spectacles and told him not to care.

If any of the lads got rough or made a bit of noise.

My grandpop beamed benignly and remarked, "Boys will be boys."

Young Arson and the Mayhem Kid were boxing pretty snug.

For each one held a grouse and thought the other'd done him wrong.

And they were using everything that lay in, fist or foot.

Till grandpop hopped up from his seat and knocked them for a goal.

Our champion giant wrestlers were wrestling for a grudge.

They struggled for an hour at, and neither seemed to have a bud.

One solid hour both stood there as steady as a rock.

Till grandpop yawned and threw them with an ancient seissors look.

This opened up a free-for-all, the crowd surged on the floor.

And punched and bit and scratched and kicked till everything was sore.

Then grandpop turned up both his cuffs and wrenched the mob apart.

And next he looked at me and asked, "When does your program start?"

The Kill-Em-Quick Athletic club seems sort of changed a mile.

Most of its members joined the church and stay at home at night.

I'd hardly recognize the same old roughneck at a lunch at all.

I can't see what's got into them since grandpop paid his call.

Now they're talking about a home for chorus girls. But when does a self-respecting chorus girl ever go home.

I went into a barber shop to be shaved and found the two proprietors engaged in a furious game of seven-up. They were so excited over the game that neither looked up as I entered.

I waited five minutes and grew impatient. "Come," I said, "which one is going to shave me?"

"Just wait a minute," snapped one of them. "Wait till we find out who owns the shop."

After thirty-four years continuous service in the legal division of the navy department at Washington, Pickens Neagle has at last been appointed solicitor of the department, succeeding Judge Graham Edgerton.

Neagle, a native of New York, was born in Gaston county, North Carolina, in 1851, began his duties in Washington at the age of twenty-six. He had graduated from Union College at Schenectady, N. Y., and had entered the profession of law.

In 1898 Mr. Neagle became a member of the navy department. Since 1918 he has been a member of the munitions patent board.

LOOKING BACKWARD

FORTY YEARS AGO

Sept. 16, 1881.—Buffalo Bill and his Indians arrived in the city today to show at the Myers tonight in "A Prairie Wolf." The body of a man was found this morning in an alley in the rear of Third Main street. The body was stiff and cold when found. His name is unknown but the fact that he had two wooden legs led to the discovery that he was an old man and he was identified as the wooden man who, standing at a wooden desk, has served for so many years as a sign for a commercial college.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

Sept. 16, 1901.—A regular boom is now on in the Spring, Brook addition. Tomorrow morning the boilers in the Hall Furniture factory will be fired for the first time. Contractors have been let for the erection of 15 new houses, in that district and ten others will also be built soon. The company will employ 100 hands.

Fruit and sugar are both low in price and as a result not one canning jar can be purchased in the city.

TEN YEARS AGO

Sept. 16, 1911.—Charles Stewart, newspaper correspondent, has just returned to New York from Europe and states that nominally, relations are strained between Germany and France but that really it is between Germany and England and that sooner or later these two countries will have to fight out their differences.

PORES HEREBY ABOLISHED

The pores of the skin are like automatic doors. A fine, hypothetical condition upon which to set up and launch a lot of plausible remedies—plausible to credulous folk.

The skin has a great, many minute openings in it to be sure, from which protrude the shafts of the fine hairs that cover the skin and through which empty the sebaceous or oil glands, whose secretion serves to keep the skin soft, pliable, pink, young and warm; and the sudoriferous or sweat glands, whose secretion serves to regulate the temperature of the body, but practically not at all to carry off any poisons.

It seems something more than an opening of the skin. It is an infection or means of absorption. The skin of man has so much equipment. Man does not breathe one bit through his skin. This minute opening is not mentioned. The commonly mistaken for "pores," do not absorb anything from the outside world; nor do they "open" and "close" with warmth and cold, as popular imagination has it. In fact, the little openings called "pores" are so more important physiologically or pathologically than is the hole in which a post stands or the hole in which a nail is set in the wood.

It seems deplorable to add that this lack of knowledge to the inevitable conclusion that things purporting to feed or nourish the skin through the pores purport to accomplish the impossible. These things purport to improve circulation, to give something to the skin through the pores would have the same effect if applied to the side of a house.

It required several years of study for me to find out that when a young woman complains of "unhatched pores" she means she has an excessive secretion of sebum or oil (doctors call it sebum) or more or less pluggings of the little openings of the sebaceous ducts with hardened sebum (whiteheads or comedones) or with sebum mixed with carbon and other dark pigments (blackheads). For these troubles the best application I know is a mixture of about equal parts of sublimed sulphur, alcohol, compound tincture of lavender, glycerin, and

Q. How Germany a diplomatic representative in Mexico? S. D.

A. Germany is represented in Mexico by a minister, Count Monteleone.

Q. How does the world look as growing until a person is full grown? K. D. S.

A. The skull increases very little in size after the seventh year and after about the twentieth year ceases growing.

Q. Is the fish, whose eggs are sold as caviar, a large fish? K. E. H.

A. The Russian sturgeon, known as beluga or husco, is very large. It grows to a length of 20 to 25 feet and to weigh 3,000 pounds. At spawning time, a female produces from two to three million eggs, constituting from one-fifth to one-third of the entire weight of the fish.

Q. Who first called Ireland the Emerald Isle? E. M. E.

A. This name, given Ireland on account of the richness of its verdure, was coined by Dr. Docton in a poem entitled "Erin." Dr. Docton lived from 1754 to 1820.

Q. How long a strand of silk does a silkworm spin? H. L. D.

A. A single fibre produced by a silkworm is from 800 to 1,000 yards in length. Each fibre of silk, when examined under a microscope, is seen to be double.

Q. What makes and modifies the rules for cricket? A. M.

A. The rules that govern the game of cricket are made by Marylebone Cricket club of London.

Q. Will you kindly advise me of what material burnt amber is made and how it got its name? H. L. D.

A. Burnt amber is obtained by roasting unburnt amber, a earth containing manganese. This material is so named because it was first discovered in Umbria, Italy.

Q. What was the shot that was heard around the world? H. M. S.

A. The shot that was heard around the world was the shot fired by the American colonists at Concord at the beginning of the Revolutionary war.

Q. What is known as the "Dardanelles of America"? P. L. S.

A. Probably this is another nickname for the Detroit river which has been called "The Dardanelles of the New World."

A Dog Ruined Years of Work

Diamond, a pet dog of Sir Isaac Newton, upset a lighted candle. When the great scientist came in he found all of his notes, gathered during years of investigation into the subject of optics, a pile of ashes. The dog was not so much to blame. The candle was in the way of the lighted paper. There is infinitely better protection today against fires, but they still cause loss in the United States at the average rate of more than one every minute.

Curiousness causes most fires. The property loss, according to government figures, is almost enough to buy a new Panama Canal every year. It is greater than the value of the combined output of all the gold, silver, and copper mines of the country. It is the output of all of the American oil wells.

You can do your share to prevent this appalling destruction. The National Board of Fire Underwriters has prepared an excellent booklet on the subject, showing the thousand and one ways in which fires occur, and how to avoid them. This booklet, which is free to all, will help you to minimize this peril. Any reader of this paper can secure one of these booklets by enclosing our Washington information Bureau, enclosing two cents in stamps for return postage. CHAPTER XXIV.
THE JOURNEY

There was this breathless pause, and then Win did the sweetest and most tactful thing I had ever seen. He reached over and took my aunt's hand and kissed it with all the gallantry of the old-time knight. And Aunt Harriet smiled. After all, she was only human and was feminine, and not an attractive personality. She began to smile. "You are a trump, Mrs. Bennett," Win said.

Once again he showed extraordinary tact. "You may call me Aunt Harriet," she said graciously. She was pleased that he made no attempt to be on a familiar footing with her until she gave permission. "Thank you," Aunt Harriet. "Win answered."

"And now," Aunt Harriet began with a businesslike air, "you might as well begin to talk practical details. Are you sure of this place in the city? How much will you make out of it?"

"I'm fairly sure of it, and I won't make much," Win answered frankly. "It's an opening wedge. The salary would only be $2,000 a year, possibly less. If I had only one year, I would leave with me. But you see, my father had a large estate and when he died he left it in trust for me with my mother. I was just a boy then, and he did not believe I would grow up to have much sense. I would prove him wrong. If my mother consents to my going, she can have an allowance of $3,000 or $4,000 a year, that will make say $5,000 altogether."

"I spent $5,000 on Constance's gown last year, and her taxi bill was $300. I bought her a car that cost $2,000. As a rough estimate, your apartment will be $3,000 at least, probably $2,000; your furniture about $1,600 to start with; your maid will cost a couple more, and you have your living expenses after that."

"I never had heard such details discussed before—I took them for granted. I always had a great deal of money," Mrs. Taylor, however, gasped. "You can live like a king on $2,000 a year," she said.

"Here," Win, of course, if Winthrop stays here, if he needs $20,000 a year he can have it," the little old lady said severely. I believe she was so angry then that she would have turned over all Win's fortune to him to waste in two months, simply to put this magnificent visitor in her place.

"Well, economize, and I don't want a car," I put in.

"You can't live on less than $15-

000," my aunt decided. "Winthrop says he can make $5,000, his mother will give him some, and I'll have to give him all that's needed." This was the last word on the subject. Win and I sat by, while our relations gazed at each other and worked out our destiny. I was worried, Win amused.

In one stroke he had obtained everything he wanted. No wonder he was pleased.

And so it was finally settled. Winthrop and I spent two weeks in my little house in Wellsville, two weeks of the most perfect happiness I had ever known. Then we went to the city.

Just meantime I had two weeks to do just as I wanted. I got up when the morning was fresh and cool and worked in my little garden in one of my voluminous creosote aprons. I made biscuits for luncheon and sandwiches for my afternoon tea parties. I went to the movies and the opera and the dance and the theater and all the rest of them came around my tea table, and in the evening we had tiny informal dinners, or a few of us sat around and played cards.

And the evening air was cool and fragrant. It was late in August when it would be nearly September by the time we were in the city. Win was time was new plans. Mrs. Taylor was sometimes pleased about it and sometimes disgusted.

"She wouldn't let me go," Win told me once, except for the fact that I made much. She says you have such a sensible head on your shoulders that you'll be able to handle the money. She's right too, I have no sense of money. I always spend everything I have and never seem to get any more. But since you'll be along, I'll look after it. Mother seems to think it will be all right."

"It's so nice to have you to take care of," I answered. And Win came over and kissed me.

And he did not even talk, but sat quietly, sometimes hand in hand, while I leaned back looking up at the stars or the black shading up the silvery patches of moonlight under the trees. It was such a wonderful world, and so glorious to be in love with so happy. Would I be as happy as this in the city?

All the way into New York I kept wondering this.

BEAUTY CHATS by Edna Kent Forbes

SHAPING THE FINGER NAILS

An immense amount can be done toward improving the actual shape of the hand and fingers by shaping the finger nails in different ways.

For instance, if your fingers are very short it is obvious that a fairly long nail will make the fingers seem longer, but you must be very careful about the length of the nail. A nail that is too long will only be ugly and vulgar looking and will not be an improvement even to the prettiest hand. A blunt finger will be improved by a pointed nail which will give a tapered effect, but here again you must be careful for a pointed nail can give a very ugly and only a detriment to an otherwise pretty hand.

A very long finger should never have a long nail, at the same time it should not have too short a nail because this will bring the finger to such a sudden end as only to attract attention to its length.

In other words you must be very moderate, you must never have the nails too long or too short. Yet by varying very slightly the shape you can always improve the shape of the fingers. The nails should be rounded to a slight point which should extend beyond the length of the finger when the fingers are short, and about to the edge when the fingers are long. It should be more sharply pointed on a blunt finger, less sharply on a tapering finger.

Always be careful in cleaning the nails that you do not push the skin underneath too far back, for this

Between You and Me

I have been seriously considering a borrow $500 from him after the death of her husband in order to support and educate her son Philip. The only way I could get it, I thought, was to ask my neighbor, Mr. Brown, but he was a miser and there was no stopping him.

His word is law in the town because he owns so much property and controls so much business, the owners of the town had to come to him at one time or another for loans. He can overcome any resistance that might be offered to his wishes.

For a time it seemed that Ted might be able to get the money, but when he heard the kind of old lion, there was a scheme for attempting to get the money to get into old man Brown's pocket. Ted had no other recourse but to go to the bank and ask for a loan. He had no other recourse but to go to the bank and ask for a loan.

Andrews is as mean as you can imagine. He last visited was to foreclose the mortgage on the little cottage of Mrs. Krump, who had had to go to the bank for a loan.

I am reminded that natural death away from this premeditated murder of this merciless man to his doom. Who am I to hurry the hand of Providence? Yet, a shot from a field along a lonely road is a temptation. I am a good shot. I never miss. It is civilized to exterminate parasites. Why draw the line at a parasite man? But, to get down to exact values, is any murderer any better than his victim? Does not the killer, when not acting defensively, show himself as mentally deformed as the object of his hatred?

But the big fact in turning me away from this premeditated murder is the certainty that it would convict me of using an author without much inventive power. The thing is to have Ted conquer the town monster by sheer mental brilliance. Any book man should. These rough thoughts will afford the reader a glimpse into the toilsome, troubled life of an author.

"HAT" MASTERSHIP REVENGE ON THE CHYENNE

One December day in the early seventies a young buffalo hunter down in the Texas Panhandle was busy skinning a buffalo when five Chyennes of Chief Bear Shield's band rode up, saluted him with a "How," and sat on their ponies idly watching his work. Although the hunter's Sharps rifle was lying some distance away, he was not worried, for the Chyennes were supposed to be peaceful at that time.

Presently one of the red men dismounted and picked up the Sharps as though to examine it, and as he did so another reached across and whipped the pistol from the holster in the hunter's belt. Instantly the first Indian struck the white man a murderous blow across the forehead with the rifle and in broken but emphatic English told him to "sit." The hunter was outstunned eye to one he "sat."

The victim of the Chyennes was "Hat" Mastership. William Burely Mastership was his name, but his success as a buffalo hunter had won him the title of "Hat" as a worthy successor to Baptiste Brown, "Old Bat," a mighty slayer of game in the old days. Mastership reached his camp in safety.

That night he rode stealthily into Bear Shield's village and "cut out" all of the old chief's ponies. As he worked he came upon another rider engaged in the same occupation. It proved to be Billy Tichman, a fellow buffalo hunter who later became a famous deputy United States marshal. When in 1874 a war party swept down upon the Adobe Walls, the butch hunters' headquarters, some of Bear Shield's warriors rode with it, and one of the defenders of the little stockade was "Hat" Mastership. Then and there he obtained revenge for the blow which the Chyenne had struck him.

After the Adobe Walls fight, Mastership enlisted as a scout for General Miles and served with him until the southern plains tribes were subdued. A few years later he was elected sheriff of Ford county, Kansas. Dodge City, the county seat, was one of the toughest cowtowns in the west. It was one of the most peaceful. By his courage and skill he had established a record second only to Bill Hickok as a tamer of "bad men."

of philosophic resignation and grim humor, "I ain't as bad as askin' for bread and gettin' a bullock."

Old Simon Skinfint boarded a train one day. As the train was full, it took some time before the conductor came to his car to collect his ticket.

Simon Skinfint felt in his vest pocket. It wasn't there.

Simon Skinfint felt in his trousers pockets. It wasn't there. The conductor smiled pleasantly and waited.

Then he searched his coat pockets. They didn't produce the ticket either.

Once more old Simon dived deep into his wallet, but no ticket could be found.

Just as the conductor, with a menacing leer, rolled up his sleeves and began to reach over to grab old Simon by the back of the collar and the seat of his trousers, the old man found the ticket.

"Dear me! Why, here it is!" he cried, as though he had just found it. "I had it in my mouth all the time."

"And he handed over the ticket just as the train drew out."

"Confound it!" he muttered angrily. "It took me a long time to suck last month's date off that old ticket anyway."

And the old miser walked on his toes when he left the train to save his heels from wearing down.

Barr Barred; Richards Needs New Quarter

Madison—Coach Richards will have to develop a new quarter back this year. Barr, under study to Allen Dwyer last year, has been declared ineligible. One of the veteran backfield men or a recruit will have to be trained for the pilot position. The information was given out that Tait, captain of the 1920 "fresh" and considered good, worked himself into eligibility during the summer. He has plenty of weight and is good all around. Because of this, he may be tried in the vacancy left by the graduation of Capt. Red Weston.

Line material is scarce at Wisconsin. Only three of last year's first defense remain. They are Brader, Dunge and Gebell. The backfield is strong with old faces, however, with Williams, Elliott, Gould, Woods, Gibson all back.

50 Men Out.
Fifty candidates were present at the first practice of the squad Thursday with a large delegation of fans. The first practice was held at the regular hour when a few of the regulars who were absent at that time, will be on hand to take part in the workout.

Coach Richards put his men through a grueling schedule, explaining plays, and practicing on punts and forward passes during the first trial. Several changes were made in the expected line-up of the first eleven.

Brunn in Pivot.
Bunge, for two years regular center, was placed at guard in the first practice with Brunner, returned center of the S. A. T. C. team in the pivot position. Irons, a giant freshman of two years ago was in at guard, with Nelson, and last year, at the other guard position. Brader, last year's guard, played at tackle.

Carlson, freshman of last year was put in one wing position, with Tebell, regular last year, at the other. Material with which to work, but is concerned in getting it into shape for the game with Chicago, October 1.

Coach Starg of the University of Chicago. Numbered Cruler, Cole, Tatp and Timme among returning members of his 1920 backfield and besides the veteran Captain McGuire, all-western tackle for 1920, he expects Milton Romney, formerly of the University of Utah to prove a strong contender for a quarterback position.

Zupke Needs Ends.
Coach McDewitt needs a kicker and Coach Zupke of the University of Illinois needs himself in need of two ends, while Coach Wille of Ohio State needs the star end, Ed Rinehart, who graduated and also may need a new quarterback.

Prospects at Iowa are bright with a number of last year's best players back in the line-up, but "Hurry Up" of Michigan is in need of two new tackles. Minnesota had 40 candidates out for practice Thursday while Purdue had 30 men at work including several All-American players and but 24 men out for first day's work and many were inexperienced. Iowa and Wisconsin, both numbered almost a full eleven of veterans among the first day's try-out.

LELLIVELT EQUALS WORLD'S HIT MARK

Omaha, Neb.—Jack Lellivelt, first baseman for the Omaha Western League club, Thursday, equalled the world's record of 257 hits in one season made by George Sisler of the St. Louis American League team last year. Lellivelt had 254 hits up until yesterday, when he got three more in a game at Sioux City.

32 GOLFERS START NATIONAL AMATEUR

St. Louis—Thirty-two golfers entered in the national amateur golf tournament, which opens here Saturday, will play an inter-sectional match beginning at 9 o'clock Friday morning. The matches will be played in foursomes, the players being teamed according to their rank. Each section, middle western, Pacific, northwest, southeast and northeast, represented in each foursome, one player.

One match calls for R. A. Gardner, Chicago; H. C. Dean, Portland; Bobby Jones, Atlanta and Francis Quimet, Boston, which, according to local authorities, is among the greatest amateur foursomes ever arranged.

CONDENSED NEWS

Murray Bay, Quebec—William H. Tait, chief justice of the supreme court, celebrated his 75th birthday by entertaining about 100 neighbors near here.

Providence, R. I.—Former Vice President Marshall received a great ovation when he made an appeal for the people to get behind President Harding during the coming conference on armaments.

Berlin—Suspension that the assassination of Matthias Erzberger was plotted in Bavaria by Chauvinist secret societies was confirmed in a statement by Chancellor Wirth.

New York—Gold imports amounting to $10,500,000 were received in connection with Germany's reparation payments.

London—The world's Methodist conference drew up an address for circulation in Methodist churches everywhere in which a call was issued for aggressive militant Christianity.

Geneva—The membership of the League of Nations will be increased to 50 if the assembly adopts the recommendation of the political committee which approved admission of Latvia and Estonia.

Taylor, Tex.—The bodies of 14 negroes were found beneath a bridge, where it is supposed they had been washed by the recent floods.

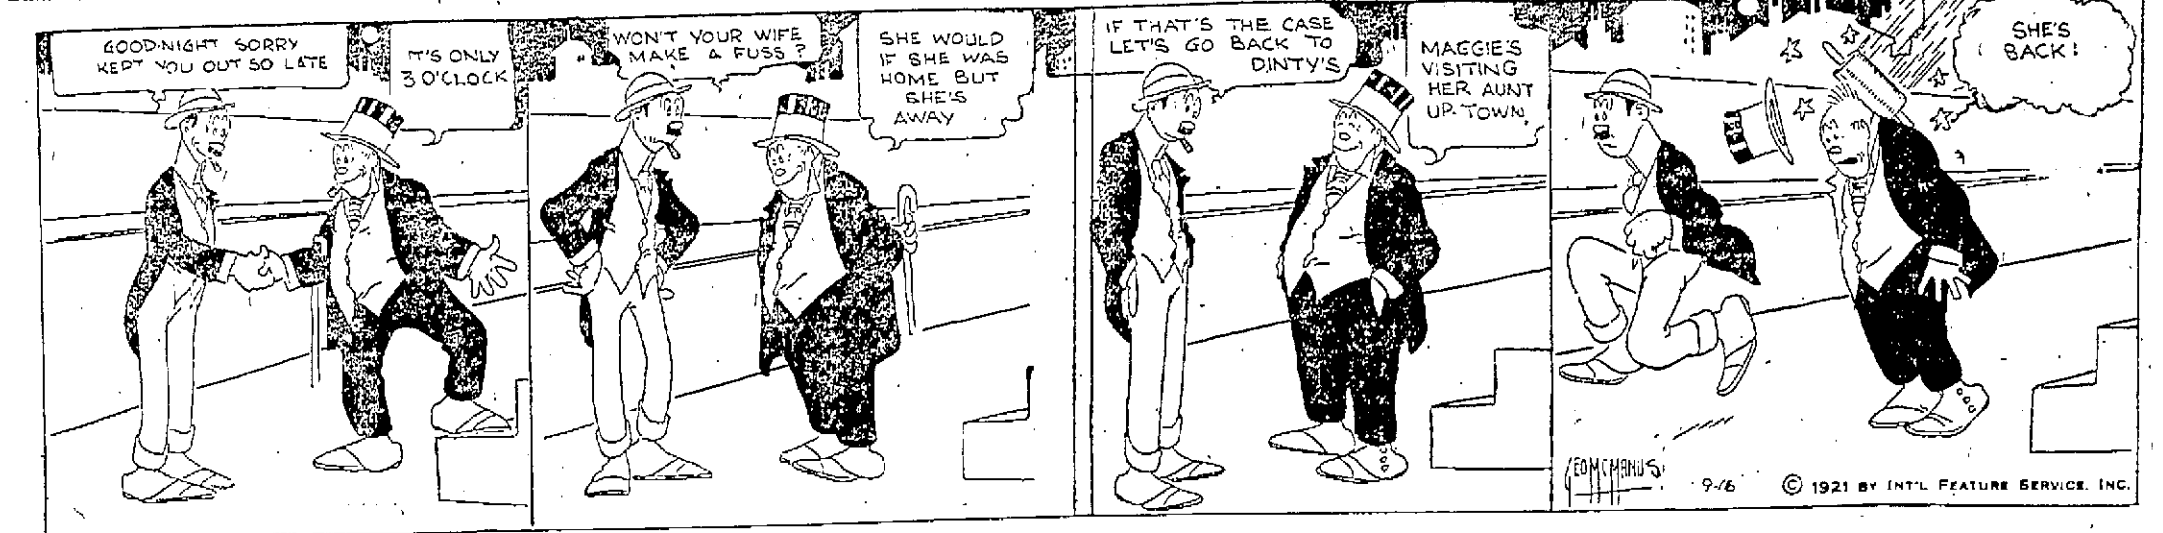

Geneva—Representatives of 26 nations answering the appeal of the League of Nations to keep military and naval expenditures for the next two years within the appropriations for the current year, have answered the negative, says a report from Geneva.

Nogales, Ariz.—A detachment of troops left Camp Stephen D. Little for Arivaca, after residents had called attention of Secretary Weeks to the killing of Postmaster and Mrs. Pearson by bandits.

Chicago—Chances of the existence of a country wide combine in the fire, sprinkler and term, soda industries were made by witnesses before the Daily Legislative commission.

Geneva—Suggestions tending to bring about mediation between Turkey and Greece have been made in league circles.

BRINGING UP FATHER

Factory Pin League Meets Friday Night

With reports current that the Parsons, the Varsity and the Post Office are anxious to enter teams, a meeting of the Industrial Bowling league will be held at the Gazette office at 8 o'clock Friday night. All captains of last year's teams and others interested in the circuit are urged to be present. Officials of the Janesville Bowling association will be on hand to tell of the new idea which is being formulated for the city league.

There is doubt that the Rock River Machine company will be able to enter a team in the Industrial league this year, that plant being practically shut down. The Hanson Furniture company, likewise, is shaky. All other firms, however, are expected to fall right in line.

The season of the Industrial league was the best of any eight team league held in Janesville for several years. It is planned to conduct the league on the same basis this year in order to keep the same sportsmanship.

GEERS IS GUEST OF N. Y. GOVERNOR

(By Associated Press.)
Syracuse—Before the largest crowd at the present meeting of the grand circuit here, Emma Harvester, driven by Cavo, dashed through a winner in the 205 class trotting, the governor's own event, in a grueling race.

The veteran driver, Pop Geers, behind Wilk Wild, took the first heat and B. Colorado, driven by Walter Cox, got the second.

Geers was the guest of Gov. Miller in the latter's box in the grand stand.

DOUGHBOYS IN FINAL GAME ON SUNDAY

The last game of the season will be played by the Balco-Ritos on Sunday when they meet Johnston at a picnic to be held at Carvers Park. The Johnston outfit has reorganized with the addition of several Clinton players.

Heideman, who held Sharon to two hits last Sunday, will pitch against Charlie Rick, Baker southpaw. Bert Cuts will handle the receiving end for the Bait boys.

MIKE GIBBONS MEETS "BAT" ORTEGA FRIDAY

Colorado Springs, Colo.—Mike Gibbons of St. Paul and Battling Ortega of San Francisco meet Friday night in a 12-round decision bout here. Gibbons reached here Thursday late, and had only a few hours' rest. They were to weigh in at 8 o'clock at 155 pounds.

Hop Flavored Malt Extract

Puritan Malt Extract with the Hops in it

NOW you have no boiling, no spilling, no fuss, no muss. You just pour your can of Puritan Hop Flavored Malt Extract into warm water and add the same ingredients you have always added, except the sugar and the hops. Then, when you bottle, just add three-quarters of a teaspoonful of sugar to each bottle.

If your particular dealer hasn't this new Puritan Hop Flavored Malt Extract, insist that he get it from his jobber.

JOHNNY MENDELSON
HAS SEVERAL OFFERS

Johnny Mendelson will not wait until Oct. 2 to get into action. Frank Mulken thinks he has Willie Jackson hooked for the October engagement with the Ghetto champ, but Mendelson expects to engage in another scrap before that time. East Chicago wants him for George K. O. Chaney on Oct. 30, and Bill Frazier of Kenosha would like to show him against Benny Valgar at Kenosha on Oct. 30. Mendelson is hesitating between the two offers, but will probably accept the Kenosha date.

Ryan Cutting Hilltop Crew

Lake Beulah, Wis.—While rain fell on Thursday, Coach Ryan put his crew of Marquette gridiron candidates through the intricacies of blackboard study. The Hilltop coach has started to prune his outfit. Four aspirants were sent back to Milwaukee Thursday.

Kilbane Ready to Meet Frush

(By Associated Press.)
Cleveland, Ohio—The day before the 12 round bout for the feather weight championship of the world between Johnny Kilbane, title holder, and Danny Frush of Baltimore, challenger, found an air of confidence at both camps over the outcome. The principals worked out in private but statements from their managers were to the effect that the boys would enter the ring Saturday afternoon in tip top condition.

SPORTING BRIEFS

BENNETT.—The American pilots here to compete for the James Gordon Bennett balloon cup are ready to jump off Sunday.

St. Louis.—Bill Brennan of Chicago outpointed Hugh Walker of Kansas City in a 12-round decision bout.

Kenosha.—The first gridiron accident of the season occurred when Edward Forkin, high school player, sustained a double fracture of the left leg.

Champaign, Ill.—Charles W. Carnoy, Illinois all-American and last year, appeared for first practice, having recovered from injuries received last year.

Detroit.—Abe Mitchell and George Duncan, British professional golfers, were defeated by Jack Hutchinson and Leo Diegel and Hutchinson and Walter Egan in two best ball 18 hole matches.

BELMAR IS WINNER OF TROT AT OMAHA

(By Associated Press.)
Omaha—Marvin Childs, Omaha, drove to his fourth victory in the racing here, when he was behind David C. in the feature event, the 2:12 trot. Roma Dea, Omaha owned, took the 2:10 pace from a field of seven starters. Belmar won the 2:20 race for three year olds.

44 CANDIDATES OUT FOR MICHIGAN CREW

Ann Arbor, Mich.—Thirty seven of the 44 men invited by Coach Yost to enter preliminary training for the University of Michigan football squad had reported Friday and the full roster is expected to be on hand early next week. Trainers reported all the candidates in excellent physical shape.

"RABBIT PUNCH" IS BARRED IN EAST

Hartford, Conn.—The "rabbit punch," with which Jack Dempsey knocked out Georges Carpentier at Jersey City in July is barred by the new rules promulgated by the Connecticut boxing commission. The "rabbit punch" is also barred. Moving pictures cannot be taken of fights in this state.
